Discussion Questions

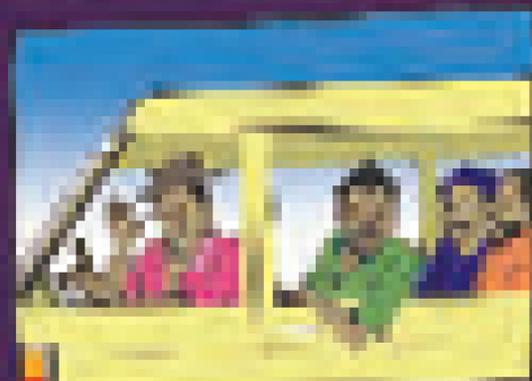

1. Why do you think it is important to take action to prevent violence and HIV?
2. There are many examples of action in this poster. Which do you do?
3. How are men taking action in this poster? How about women? How about young people?
4. Which examples of action do you think are the hardest? Why?
5. Which examples of action do you or people you know feel reluctant to do? Why?
6. Do you think anyone can be an activist? Why or why not?
7. Whose responsibility do you think it is to take action to prevent violence and HIV? Why?
8. What do you think would happen if everyone—from all areas of the community—did something each week to create more equal relationships? Is it possible? How can we do this?
9. What are other things we could do as individuals and a community to take action?
10. Many examples of action in this poster seem very small and not important. Do you think they can make a difference?

We started talking about violence and HIV/AIDS.

We stopped ignoring the violence in our neighborhood.

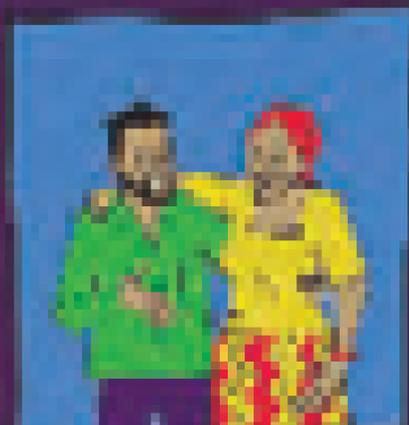

We stopped moving around with other women.

We trained our counselors to address violence.

We watch out for each other.

We committed to never using violence in our relationship.

We trained our officers on how to deal with violence.

We created a bylaw against domestic violence.

We confront men who we see with girls and young women.

We talk to clients about violence and HIV & AIDS.

We use condoms every time.

We made a no tolerance policy for sexual harassment and abuse.
